CHESTNUT HILL

Quite the most important social gathering of the week will be the 19th biennial fair which will take place Friday afternoon and evening, at the Philadelphia Cricket Club, for the benefit of the Bethesda Home for Orphans and Half Orphans at Stenton and Willow Grove avenues. Heretofore the fairs have taken place every two years, and have enlisted the co-operation and active interest of society women and girls in Chestnut Hill. On Friday a special feature will be the dividing of the articles into two rooms. One room will represent a midway where pretty Halloween favors, candy, toys, games and everything of interest to children will be sold. The other room will be attractively arranged as a Parisian salon. Here bewitching maidens will lure you into buying anything from the latest and most fetching of baby clothes to an irresistible cretonne lamp shade, to say nothing of dainty toilet articles and feminine frippery. No reason for you to go home at 6:30, as there will be served a tempting and delectable supper at a nominal sum by debutantes no less tempting.

The crowning feature will be the general dancing afterward in the ballroom, when silver cups, given by the committee in charge, will be awarded to the best dancers. Altogether the occasion bids fair to be delightful and of particular social interest. Among the many women who will take an active part in the fair are Mrs. Frederick Rosenkranz, Mrs. John H. Whitaker, Mrs. William E. Goodman, Jr., Miss Marianne Hiddle, Mrs. Howard E. Seaver, Mrs. Joseph W. Wear, Mrs. Wilson Potter, Mrs. George Thomas, Jr., Mrs. Charles Bradford Freley, Mrs. Patrick Grant, Mrs. John Gilpin, Mrs. Boulton Earnshaw, Mrs. George Willing, Jr., Miss Elizabeth Cartwright, Miss Mary Kelsey, Mrs. E. Marshall Scull, The officers include Mrs. Marshall S. Morgan, president; Mrs. B. Franklin Pepper, vice president; Miss Elizabeth M. Cheston, 3d vice president; Miss E. Gwen Martin, 2d vice president; Mrs. Frederick Rosenkranz, secretary; Mrs. Francis McIlhenny, treasurer.

Miss Beth Humphrey gave an attractive children's entertainment Saturday night in the lecture hall of the Fairhill Baptist Church, Lehigh avenue above Fifth street. The little folks from 5 to 12 years of age impersonated minstrels, the boys wearing white blouses and black bloomers and the girls white blouses and black skirts. Ibell Eiler, Violet Smith, Ralph Thomas and Bennett Mitten were the end men.

Miss Both Wilson, daughter of Mrs. J. O. Wilson, of 1512 Westmoreland street, and C. Hegey Lent, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Lent, of Brooklyn, will be married tonight in the Gethesme Methodist Church, Broad and Westmoreland streets, which is beautifully decorated with autumn leaves, palms, ferns and pink chrysanthemums. The ceremony will be performed by the bride's uncle, the Rev. Herbert Welch, of Delaware, O., assisted by the pastor of the church, the Rev. Dr. George W. Henson.

The bride will be attended by her sister, Miss Lorine J. Wilson, maid of honor, and Mrs. Alfred Conaway, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Anthony F. Blanks, of Hamilton, N. Y., matrons of honor. Gerardus Harrison, of Brooklyn, will be best man and the ushers will be Harold Harrison, Elmer Siewright, Bertram L. R. Wood and Charles Volz, all of Brooklyn.

The bride will wear a gown of white chrysanthemum, satin trimmed, with French lace, and made with a court train. Her veil of Brussels point applique will be held in place with a spray of orange blossoms, and she will carry bride roses and lilies of the valley. The gown of the maid of honor is of ivory satin and lace, ornamented with silver lace. A pink velvet bodice gives the touch of color so much in vogue. White lace dresses make up the train, with wide pink girles, will be worn by the matrons of honor. All three will carry bouquets of pink chrysanthemums. The ceremony will be followed by a large reception at the home of the bride's mother, Mr. and Mrs. Lent will take an extended wedding trip, and on their return will be at home Thursdays, December 3 and 17, at 465 Eastern Parkway, Brooklyn.

HEMSLEY-STOLL One of the prettiest of the autumn weddings took place last evening at St. Patrick's Church, 29th and Locust streets, when Miss Adele M. Stoll, daughter of William J. Stoll, of 206 Arch street, was married to Charles Vincent Hemsley.

Miss Stoll was attended by her sister, Mrs. D. J. Von Kessler, as matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Anna Vaughan, Miss Nathalie L. Stoll, Miss Elizabeth Stewart and Miss Caroline Horan. Mr. Hemsley had for best man Dr. Clarence Pyle; the ushers were H. M. Stoll, H. L. Stoll, W. J. Stoll and Henry Clarke. The bride was given away by her father, William J. Stoll, Jr. She wore a gown of white satin and lace with a court train and a veil of tulle caught up with orange blossoms. The matron of honor also wore white satin. The bridesmaids' dresses were fashioned of gold-colored chrysanthemum and chiffon.

COLLINS-REEVES The first wedding that ever occurred in the old historic Friends' Meeting House, erected in 1772 at Salem, N. J., was that solemnized last night when Miss Alice Brinton Reeves, a daughter of Mrs. C. Hildreth Reeves, of this city, became the bride of Harold David Collins, of South Seaville.

The Friends' ceremony was used and there were no decorations or music.

The maid of honor was Miss Emma A. Powell, of Salem, and the best man, Marshall H. Dively, of Woodbury.

The bridesmaids were Miss Gladys J. Emmons, of South Amboy; Miss Helen E. Ayars, of Rome, N. Y.; Miss Rebekah R. Ireland, of Quinton; Miss Helen B. Smith, of Salem, while the ushers were Charles Laubert, of Quinton; Hildreth S. Reeves, of Salem; Wilson Christian, of Ocean City; Harry Gray, of Philadelphia.

The bride was becomingly attired in cream satin with blouse and tunic of cream lace with pearl trimming. Her veil was held in place with a wreath of white lilies of the valley. Her bouquet was of white chrysanthemums.

The maid of honor wore a gown of pale pink messaline with blouse and overtunic of white chiffon with pearl trimmings.

The bridesmaids' dresses were of a deeper shade of pink messaline, with blouse and overtunic of white chiffon. Their bouquets were of pink chrysanthemums.

Following the ceremony a large reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Sunnyside, near Salem.

Upon their return from a wedding journey, Mr. and Mrs. Collins will reside at South Seaville.

MATINEE MUSIC CLUB Matinee Musical Club Plans Series of Entertainments for Season. An important feature in the social activities of the Matinee Musical Club this season will be a series of five dances to be given at the Roosevelt beginning on the last Friday evening in November and to continue on the last Friday evening of each succeeding month with the exception of December, when the evening of the 15th is to be the festive occasion. Miss Marie G. Loughney, chairman of the Dance Committee, entertained her associates yesterday afternoon (October 21) at a luncheon in her studio, at 1529 Chestnut street. The guests were Miss Helen Benner, Mrs. Harold Busby, Miss Emily Fricks, Mrs. Frank McManus, Mrs. Charles Miller, Mrs. George Weller and Miss Helen Walnut. Mrs. Frederick W. Abbott, president of the club, was the special guest. The club had representation last Tuesday evening at the Behrens Opera Club presentation of "Martha," and will also be represented at the Philadelphia Operatic Society's performance of "Carmen." Mrs. Jenny Knedler Johnson, a member of the Music Committee of the Matinee Musical, and an active spirit in the affairs of the organization, was heard in the little role of "Martha."

WEDDINGS IN VARIOUS PARTS OF TOWN

THE DRAMA

LITTLE Lenora Ramacea, who dances in "The Whirl of the World," coming to the Lyric next week, is an expert animal trainer. Miss Ramacea was born in Florence, Italy, 18 years ago. At the age of 8 she danced at the opera. Her father, Luigi Ramacea, was the owner of a small traveling circus, in which animal acts were the predominating feature. At the age of 12 Lenora entered upon her career as an animal trainer with a trained goat and fox terrier act. She was so successful in the handling of animals that her father decided to allow her to work with trained bears. In a new act, featuring a huge Russian bear, obtained from the Hagenbeck wild animal farm at Stellingen, near Hamburg, Germany, Miss Ramacea came to America three years ago. For two years she was with the Wallace-Hagenbeck Circus. At the end of the circus season she decided to try vaudeville. Previous to her opening at one of New York's leading vaudeville theatres the animals were killed in a fire, which swept several blocks of the lower THEATRICAL BAEDEKER ADELPHI—"A Pair of Sixes," farce by Edward Pele. Two business partners shoot a cold hand, the winner to retain the business, the loser to become his body servant for a year. Delightfully laughable.

BROAD—"Lady Betty Martinzale," new comedy by John Luther Long and Frank Statton. A noble lady of 1750 marries a man condemned to be hanged so as to escape her debts. But the man is pardoned!

FORREST—"Papa's Darling," musical comedy by Ivan Caryll. On the excuse of having a mythical son, a professor of moral psychology visits Paris and, well, musically accompanied complications follow.

GARRICK—"The Yellow Ticket," by Michael Morton. Florence Reed, revealed as an actress of superlative ability in a thrilling melodrama of Russia.

KEITHS—Miss Adeline Genee, petite danseuse, in absolutely enchanting dances.

LITTLE THEATRE—"Arms and the Man." Revival of Bernard Shaw's play. Shaw said war was purgatory—had "twas before he met the Kaiser.

LYRIC—"Passing Show of 1914," revue from the New York Winter Garden. Frivolous and funny. George Monroe gives original views on "white slavery."

WALNUT—"Way Down East." Nineteen years old—and appealing as ever. Presented by a capable company.

FLASHES FROM "STARS" Margaret Nyblow, of the "Kitty MacKay" company, was accented recently as she was ascending the stairs of the Comedy Theatre, New York, to her dressing-room.

"Miss Nyblow, may I put you down for a couple of chances for a raffle we are getting up for a poor old man?" he asked, presenting a paper.

Miss Nyblow looked at him quizzically. "Certainly not. I wouldn't know what to do with him if I won him."

Ian MacLaren, leading man at the Little Theatre, has long been an ardent student and producer of the plays of Shakespeare, but more recently he has acted in modern plays. It was because of this that an old friend, with whom Mr. MacLaren had been associated in England, observed:

"You seem to be losing interest in Shakespeare, Ian; why is it?"

Mr. MacLaren smiled wistfully. "It isn't interest I have lost," he confessed; "it is principal."

Sylvester Schaffer, known as "The Man Who Does Everything," who will shortly come to Keith's, recently gave a demonstration of his ability to overcome obstacles. When Schaffer arrived in this country two deer which he had trained to perform were prevented from landing by the health authorities at New York, so two more animals were purchased from a dealer and when both died. Undaunted, Schaffer went to the New York Zoo, obtained two young deer, and in less than one week, by putting them through an hour's work every morning on the stage at the Palace Theatre, New York, had them so thoroughly trained that he was able to use them in his act. Schaffer is said to be the highest salaried vaudeville on the stage, receiving, it is also said, $500 for each week of his American tour.

Sam Bernard, the comedian, was standing in a crowded street-car not long ago, hanging to a strap. For some unknown reason the car suddenly stopped, and Mr. Bernard was precipitated into the lap of a young and very pretty woman. The actor arose and bowed profoundly. "Madam," he said, "this is the first time the street-car company ever conferred a favor on me."

Allen Dovey, who winsomely captivates in Klav & Erlanger's production of the new Ivan Caryll musical comedy, "Papa's Darling," at the Forrest Theatre, received her first vocal training in Italy. As a mere child she determined that she would sing in musical comedy. Miss Dovey will be remembered by her charming rendition of Angela in "The Pink Lady," and Ivan Caryll, the composer, had Miss Dovey in mind when writing the music for her in "Papa's Darling."

J. Harry Benrimo, who staged "Consequences" at New York's Comedy Theatre, has canceled his return passage for England and will remain in America to supervise rehearsals of plays under the direction of the Shuberts. Mr. Benrimo is known on the other side for his staging of "The Yellow Jacket" in London, Berlin, Moscow and Budapest.
